A History of West Africa
Toyin Falola
Series: Routledge Global Africa Textbooks
This book introduces readers to the rich and fascinating history of West Africa, stretching all the way back to the stone age, and right up to the modern day. Over the course of twenty seven short and engaging chapters, the book delves into the social, cultural, economic and political history of West Africa. Drawing on decades of teaching and research experience, this book will serve as an excellent textbook for entry-level History and African Studies courses, as well as providing a perfect general introduction to anyone interested in finding out about West Africa.

African Constructions of China
Insights from Ghana and Kenya
Kwaku Opoku Dankwah
Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa
Marking a constructivist turn in Africa-China scholarship, this book explores African constructions of China. Using Ghana and Kenya as case studies, the book outlines the role of diverse state and non-state actors in defining what China represents to the region, and how it compares to Western powers. This book’s important analysis of the role of domestic non-state actors in shaping African policymaking extends much needed nuance to a sometimes polarised debate. It will be of interest to researchers across the fields of international relations, global development, and African and Chinese Studies.

African Ethics and Death
Moral Status and Human Dignity in Ubuntu Thinking
Motsamai Molefe, Elphus Muade
Series: Routledge Studies in African Philosophy
This book analyses the concepts of moral status and human dignity in African philosophy and applies them to the moral problems associated with death. The book first challenges the criticism and rejection of moral status in African philosophy and then continues to consider how moral personhood is defined in African ethical theories. It provides an important African axiological contribution to debates on global ethics and moral philosophy. Providing an important overview of the ethical problems associated with the biological fact of death, this book will be of interest to researchers across the fields of philosophy and African Studies.

African Perspectives on South–South Migration
Life Stories from Western Kenya
Edited by Maurice N. Amutabi, Emily Achien’g Akuno, Humphrey J. Ojwang, Dannica Fleuss
Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa
Composed by a majority of scholars from the Global South, the book will be crucial reading for researchers, students, and policy makers with a focus on South-South Migration, Migration and Inequalities, Migration and Development, and Refugee and Humanitarian Studies.

Avoiding Potholes in Translation
A Practical Perspective on Translation between English and isiZulu
Phindile Dlamini
This book is a comprehensive introduction to translation studies between English and isiZulu. It incorporates crucial concepts for understanding the basics of translation within a South African language context and lays a foundation for further studies in translation. The book’s content coverage, while broad, is also in-depth, and it skilfully integrates examples from varied types of texts. Print edition not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa.
Bahlabelelelani – Why Do They Sing?
Gender and Power in Contemporary Women’s Songs

Nompumelelo Zondi
This book focuses on the nature of women’s contemporary songs in the rural community of Zwelitshana, near Pinetown in KwaZulu-Natal. It aims to answer the question ‘Bahlabelelelani – Why do they sing?’, drawing on several discourses of gender and power to examine the content and purposes of the songs. Print edition not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa.

Civil Society and Peacebuilding in Sierra Leone
Donors, Government and Human Security

Vandy Kanyako
This book investigates the important role of local actors in Sierra Leone in helping to foster peace and provide for the needs of vulnerable populations following the end of the civil war. This book examines this intersection between civil society, donors, and government in Sierra Leone, considering both the relevance of civil society activities, and their limitations, and what this means ultimately for human security in the country. Highlighting the importance of African civil society actors as proactive agents of change, this book will be of interest to researchers and stakeholders across the fields of African peacebuilding, development, and conflict resolution.

Company Law and Directors’ Duties in Sub-Saharan Africa
Fixing the Enforcement Regime

Oludara Akanmidu
Series: Routledge Studies on Law in Africa
This book provides a critical analysis of the enforcement regime for breach of directors’ duties in sub-Saharan Africa, focusing on Nigeria, Kenya, Ghana, and Tanzania. The book examines the effectiveness of enforcement, the reasons for its successes or failures and how it might be improved in these countries. Finally, taking into consideration the specific socio-cultural context of the countries in question, it offers persuasive and practical avenues for reform. This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners of comparative corporate law and corporate governance in Africa.

Endangered African Knowledges and the Challenge of Modernity
An Igbo Response

Donald Mark C Ude
Series: Routledge Studies in African Philosophy
This book presents an innovative African philosophical response to modernity. Ude argues that theorizing modernity requires a critical conversation between African and Western scholarship, in order to unpack its links with coloniality and the subjugation of Africa’s indigenous knowledges. At a time of considerable global crises, this book makes an important contribution to Philosophy both within Africa and beyond.
Finding My Way
Reflections on South African Literature

Duncan Brown
This book reflects on South African literature from the perspective of 2020. It emerges from Duncan Brown’s experiences of three decades of working in this field of writing and scholarship. It is a personal intellectual exploration and an engagement with the institutional history of literary studies in South Africa and elsewhere. Print edition not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa.

Human Security and Epidemics in Africa
Learning from COVID-19, Ebola and HIV

Edited by Andreas Velthuizen, Caroline Varin
This book examines the impact of epidemics in Africa, exploring some of the adaptation and crisis management strategies adopted to tackle COVID-19, Ebola, and HIV-AIDS. The authors reflect on lessons learned from solving complex problems and difficult decisions made by leaders on pandemic management to shape the security environment and, thus, the well-being of people living in Africa for years to come. This book will be a welcome addition for practitioners and researchers across the fields of security studies, health management, and African studies, making an essential contribution to the security discourse in a post-COVID world.

Names Fashioned by Gender
Stitched Perceptions

Edited by Thenjiwe Meyiwa, Madoda Cekiso
Series: Routledge/UNISA Press Series

Names Fashioned by Gender is a collection of essays on onomastics—a linguistics field of study focusing on the origin, form, history, and use of proper names. The study of naming potentially provides significant evidence about the role of gender in the assimilation and/or enculturation processes as personal names evoke insight into the construction of gender and personhood in African societies. Monuments and Memory in Africa
Reflections on Coloniality and Decoloniality

Edited by John Sodiq Sanni, Madalitso Zililo Phiri
Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

This book investigates how monuments have been used in Africa as tools of oppression and domination, from the colonial period up to the present day. The book asks what the decolonisation of historical monuments and geographies might entail, and how this could contribute to the creation of a post-imperial world. Drawing on insights from philosophy, historical sociology, heritage, politics, and literary studies, this book will be of interest to a range of scholars with an interest in the decolonization of global African history.

Reconsidering Colonial Heritage in West African Cities
Urban Space in Cape Verde, Senegal and The Gambia

Krzysztof Górny
Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Africa

The material heritage of the colonial era is built into Africa’s cities, from their urban layouts, to their architecture, monuments and street names. This book discusses the varying responses to colonial heritage in West African cities, with a particular focus on the case studies of Praia in Cape Verde, Dakar in Senegal, and Banjul in the Gambia. The book uncovers a rich relationship between politics and urban space, and between new and old. Combining insights from political sciences, history, critical geography, heritage studies, and urban planning, this book will be of interest to a wide range of researchers.

Remembering Colonialism in Zimbabwe

Edited by Ivan Marowa, Ushehwedu Kufakurinani
Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Africa
This book examines the various ways in which colonialism in Zimbabwe is remembered, looking both at how people analyse, perceive, and interpret the past, and how they rewrite that past, elevating some players and their historical agency. Inspired by the ongoing movement on decoloniality, this book examines the ways in which generations of today question and challenge colonialism's legacies and their role in Zimbabwe's collective memories and history. Drawing on the expertise of Zimbabwean scholars, this book will appeal to researchers of decolonisation, and of African history and memory.

Sindiwe Magona and the Power of Paradox

Challenging the Polarization of South African Discourse

Edited by Renée Schatteman
Series: Routledge Studies in African Literature
This book examines the work of Sindiwe Magona, one of South Africa’s most prolific and ground-breaking writers, widely recognised for highlighting the everyday experiences of women and the domestic side of apartheid. Magona’s most important contribution comes through her refusal to choose sides in the contentious debates that have polarized public discourse following apartheid. Covering her creative production over three decades, this book is an essential read for Magona enthusiasts as well as for researchers of African literature and postcolonial South Africa.

Routledge Handbook of Francophone Africa

Edited by Tony Chafer, Margaret A. Majumdar
The Routledge Handbook of Francophone Africa brings together a multidisciplinary team of international experts to reflect on the history, politics, societies, and cultures of French-speaking parts of Africa. Consisting of approximately 35% of Africa’s territory, Francophone Africa is a shifting concept, with its roots in French and Belgian colonial rule. The chapters demonstrate the evolution of “Francophone Africa” into a multi-dimensional construct, with both a material and an imagined reality. Bringing this important debate together into a single volume, this important Handbook will be an essential resource for students and scholars interested in Francophone Africa.

Struggle for a Free South Africa

Campus Anti-Apartheid Movements in Africa and the United States, 1960–1994

Edited by Derek Charles Catsam
This book explores anti-apartheid movements on university and college campuses across Africa and the United States in the 1970s and 1980s. Taking innovative approaches and offering case studies, it reveals the myriad ways the anti-apartheid struggle manifested in a range of academic environments and how those campaigns have been remembered and documented. This book was originally published as a special issue of Safundi.
The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature

Edited by Lokangaka Losambe, Tanure Ojaide
Series: Routledge International Handbooks

The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature introduces world literature readers to the transnational, multivocal writings of immigrant African authors. Covering works produced in Europe, North America, and elsewhere in the world, the book investigates three major aesthetic paradigms in African diasporic literature: the Sankofan wave (late 1960s-early 1990s); the Janusian wave (1990s-2020s); and the Offshoots of the New Arrivants (those born and growing up outside Africa).

A Learning Community of Reflective Teachers
From Whispers to Resonance

Edited by Neeraja Raghavan

This volume documents such an initiative, sparked off by the Covid-19 pandemic, which brought people together online. It underscores the power of teachers debating, discussing, and learning from each other. Based on an Indian experience, it addresses a range of issues teachers and educators face across the world — encompassing pedagogy, classroom management, school culture and teacher development. It will be of great interest to researchers and practitioners of education and sociology of education. It will also be useful for academicians, teacher educators, policymakers, curriculum developers, and universities offering teacher education programs.

A New Approach to Global Studies from the Perspective of Small Nations

Edited by Kiyonobu Date, Jean-François Laniel

Series: The University of Tokyo-Routledge Global Studies Series

With emphasis on East Asian and North American examples — notably Japan and Quebec — Date, Laniel and their contributors take a new approach to the understanding of small nations and their role in the international system. By interrogating what these examples have to show us about the typology and character of small nations, they offer a critique of superpower and draw out the potential of small nation studies. A valuable resource for students and scholars of international relations and theories of the nation and nation state.

Administration in India
Challenges and Innovations

Affective World-Making
Routing Planetary Thought
Edited by Simi Malhotra, Sakshi Dogra, Jubi C. John
This volume fosters a re-imagination of the planet where it is seen not only as a resource, but also as an entity that must not be excluded from the political imperative of care and kinship. The authors go beyond the normative understanding of space by recognizing the potency of touch, where they look at somatic experiences that invite the intensity of affect.

An Introduction to South Asian Politics
Edited by Neil DeVotta
The second edition of this introductory textbook provides students with an overarching understanding of social, political, and economic institutions of South Asia. The textbook is an indispensable teaching tool for courses on South Asia. It includes pedagogical features such as political chronologies, political party descriptions, text boxes, a glossary, and suggestions for further reading. It is written in an accessible style by country experts, thus offering students of South Asia a valuable introduction to an exceedingly diverse and complicated region.

Beyond Classical Liberalism
Freedom and the Good
Edited by James Dominic Rooney, Patrick Zoll
This volume brings together diverse sets of standpoints on liberalism in an era of growing skepticism and distrust regarding liberal institutions. The essays in the volume relate concerns for liberal institutions with classical themes in perfectionist politics, such as the priority of the common good in decision-making or the role of comprehensive doctrines. The comprehensive volume will be of great interest to scholars, students, and researchers of politics, especially those in political philosophy and political theory.

Buddhism in Indonesia
A Study of Multiple Revivals
Roberto Rizzo
Series: Routledge Religion in Contemporary Asia Series
Based on extensive original research, this book explores the history and current revival of Buddhism on the Indonesian island of Java. Beginning by tracing how Buddhism came to Java from India via Southeast Asia, it considers how Buddhism has survived and adapted as Islam and Christianity became dominant. It goes on to report on detailed anthropological research both in a remote highland community, Temanggung, and in Java’s main cities including Jakarta, showing how youth activism and close community cohesion have brought about revival.

Civil Defense in Japan
Issues and Challenges
Edited by Yasuhiro Takeda, Jun Ito, Yusuke Kawashima
Series: Routledge Contemporary Japan Series
Most countries have adopted a comprehensive crisis (or emergency) management system, integrating civil defense and disaster management (against natural and technological hazards). However, Japan continues to take a different path. Why has a comprehensive crisis management system yet to be formed? How do complex and fragmented institutions work? This book examines the institutions and policies of civil protection (i.e., Japan’s civil defense) and further analyzes their effectiveness and issues. Furthermore, it discusses the effectiveness and significance of the trade-offs created by the institutional coexistence of civil defense and natural disaster management.

Class War or Race War
The Inner Fronts of Soviet Society during and after the Second World War
Tamás Kende
Series: Routledge Studies in Modern History
Kende goes beyond the contemporary perceptions of the “Jewish question” and antisemitism and reconstructs the real frontlines of the Soviet society of the 1940s. The book reinvents the long forgotten understanding of social classes in an allegedly classless and monolithic society. The spontaneous formations of the actual frontlines in the hinterland lacked the participants’ class consciousness, thus its occurrences in the form of conflict producing historical records were recorded as acts of antisemitism. As the book advocates, Jews could have been found on both sides of the inner frontlines of the Soviet society during, and right after the WWII.

Coalition Navies during the Korean War
Understanding Combined Naval Operations
Edited by Ian Bowers
Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Asia
This book presents an assessment of the role of navies in the Korean War. It highlights that, despite being predominantly a land war, navies played a vital part. Moreover, the naval war was not solely a US operation. Smaller navies from many countries made important contributions both in supporting the US and carrying out independent and combined naval operations. This subject holds special importance since current Western strategic thinking and capabilities emphasize the necessity of combined naval operations involving multiple navies in any potential future naval conflict.

Colonial and Post-Colonial Identity Politics in South Asia
Zaat/Caste Among Muslims
Muzaffar Assadi
Series: Routledge Studies in South Asian History

Early Buddhist Artisans and Their Architectural Vocabulary
S Settar
The early Buddhist architectural vocabulary, being the first of its kind, maintained its monopoly for about half a millennium, beginning from the third century BCE. To begin with, it was oral, not written. The Jain, Hindu, and other Indian sectarian builders later developed their vocabulary on this foundation, though not identically. This book attempts to understand this vocabulary and the artisans who first made use of it.

Interreligious Dialogue Models
From the Life of the Prophet Muhammad

Alwani Ghazali, Muhammad Kamal
Series: Routledge Studies in Religion
The six models of dialogue analysed in the book are dialogue with Ashamah, Najashi of Abyssinia, delegation of Najran Christians, different Jews of Yathrib, and emperors of Byzantine and Sassanid. The analysis applies Ibn Khaldun’s (d.1406) historical approach which the author termed as Khaldunian Hermeneutics due to the similarity between his ideas to that of Johann Gustav Droysen (d. 1884), a German philosopher, in historical hermeneutics. As such, the analysis goes beyond the dialogue content, taking into consideration the immediate and larger contextual settings, and changes of the contexts due to the passage of time.

Rohit K Dasgupta, Jennie Jordan, Graham Hitchen, Kishalay Bhattacharjee, Diviani Chaudhuri, Deepa D. Adrijia Roychowdhury
The first in-depth study of the Indian creative industries, this book provides a comprehensive mapping of the Indian creative industries and its policy landscape, developing and defining key concepts and terms and offering detailed case studies of specific sectors, geographic regions and governance structures. The volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of public policy, business studies and South Asian studies. It will also be a key document for foreign investors willing to invest in one of the fastest growing and stable economies in the world.

Media and Masculinities in Contemporary Russia
Constructing Non-heteronormativity
Olga Andreevsikh
Series: Routledge Contemporary Russia and Eastern Europe Series
Based on extensive original research, this book examines the extent to which media in Russia upholds the Russian government’s stance on sexuality. It considers the Russian government’s policies designed to uphold “traditional sexuality”, reveals the strategies of resistance used by Russian media outlets to create positive portrayals of non-heteronormative people and circumvent the restrictive 2013 legislation banning positive representations of “non-traditional sexual relations”, and highlights particular examples of subversive media practices.

Media and Politics in South Korea, 1960-2022
Ki-Sung Kwak
Series: Media, Culture and Social Change in Asia
This book examines the constantly changing nature of the relationship between the state and the media within South Korea’s political landscape. It traces developments as South Korea became gradually more democratic in the decades after 1960, and goes on to consider more recent developments which include democratic erosion and the deepening political division and their effects on the media, including the parallelism of this deepening political division within the media itself.

Media Education for Generation Z
Edited by Amitabh Srivastava
This book presents a road map for developing media education targeted toward Generation Z (people born between the mid-1990s to 2010). It offers insights into how curriculums can be updated to reflect current media trends and helps bridge the gap between traditional media and Generation Z.
Media Technology and Cultures of Memory
Mapping Indian Narratives
Edited by Elvin Susan John, Amal P Mathews
This volume studies narrative memories in India through oral, chirographic and digital cultures. It examines oral cultures of memory culled out from diverse geographical and cultural landscapes of India and throws light on multiple aspects of remembering and registering the varied cultural tapestry of the country. Rich in case studies from across India, this interdisciplinary book is a must read for scholars and researchers of cultural studies, sociology, political science, English literature, South Asian studies, social anthropology, social history, and post-colonial studies.

Migration from Central Asia
Stories and Identity Formation
Çağla Gül Yesevi
Series: Central Asian Studies
Migration from Central Asia analyzes migration from Turkestan to Turkey, Saudi Arabia, and the USA and the identity formation of these people living in different countries. The analysis in this book contextualizes the change in the structure of migration and identity formation and the emergence of the notion of Turkmenian migrants. It will be of interest to academics studying Turkish World Studies, Central Asian studies and migration studies as well as identity and cultural studies, ethnic studies, and nationalism.

Migration, Memories, and the "Unfinished" Partition
Edited by Amit Ranjan
Series: Migrations in South Asia
This book looks at migration through the lens of the 1947 Partition of India. This volume examines the initial difficulties faced by the refugees in settling down in their adopted land. The book analyses the state's efforts in facilitating the movement of refugees, the processes it initiated to resettle them after Partition, and the extent to which it was successful. This book also investigates the links between socio-political developments in contemporary India, Pakistan, and Bangladesh as a result of the Partition.

Military Modernisation in Southeast Asia after the Cold War
 Acquisition, Retention, and Geostrategic Impacts
Shang-Su Wu
Series: Routledge Contemporary Southeast Asia Series
Differing from previous research focused on military acquisition, this book additionally covers retention of assets and carefully examines the ageing issues that affect readiness and capabilities. In doing so, it provides a comprehensive view of military modernisation. This book also compares each country's situation in the region in terms of military strength and security challenges to elaborate on the geostrategic impacts of military modernisation. The ten cases of military modernisation in the post-Cold War context provide rich content for readers to explore the evolution of military modernisation in developing countries after 1991.

Mobile Japanese Migrants to the Pacific West and East
Self-searching, Work, and Identification
Etsuko Kato
Series: Routledge Contemporary Japan Series
This book explores "self-searching migrants", a new group of indefinitely globally mobile people whose purpose of overseas stay is the search of true self and the work they really want to do, using Japanese trans-Pacific sojourners as the case study. Including extensive qualitative research and interview material collected over a 20-year period, this book will be of huge interest to students and scholars of Japanese Culture and Society, Cultural Anthropology and Migration.

Modernity in India
Issues, Perspectives and Challenges
Renu Vinod
This book introduces a sociological understanding of the emergence of modernity in India and its ramifications on society, economy, and polity. It outlines the main features and context of modernity, as described in classical and later texts of modernity. This book would be useful to the students, researchers and teachers of sociology, women and gender studies, history, economics, political science; and other interdisciplinary courses in social sciences. The book will also be valuable reading for those interested in South Asian studies, especially post-colonial contemporary Indian society.
Modernization and Revolution in China
June Grasso, Jay Corrin, Michael Kort
Extensively revised and fully updated in this sixth edition, this popular textbook conveys the drama of China’s struggle to modernize against the backdrop of a proud and difficult history. Spanning the years from China’s defeat in the Opium Wars to its current status as a world superpower, the sixth edition of Modernization and Revolution in China is an essential textbook for courses on Modern Chinese History, Chinese Politics and Modern East Asia.

Nation Building in Japan, 1945-1952
The Allied Occupation and the US-Japan Alliance
Peter K. Frost
Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Asia
This book analyzes the Allied Occupation of Japan (1945-1952). It begins by explaining why Japan spent roughly fifty years building its own colonial system and declaring war on China and the Western Allies, only to decide after military defeats, two atomic bombings and the Soviet declaration of war, to surrender before being invaded. It goes on to describe the controversial issues surrounding the conduct of the Occupation forces, the largely American reform proposals and the shifts in policy as the Cold War developed.

Neutral Europe and the Creation of the Nonproliferation Regime
1958-1968

Edited by Pascal Lottay, Yoko Iwama
Series: Routledge Advances in International Relations and Global Politics

Focusing on the years 1958-1968, the nine chapters written by area experts highlight the processes and reasons for the political and diplomatic actions the neutrals took, and how those impacted the multilateral treaty negotiations. In part one, the international system, neutrality, nonalignment, and the nuclear order is analysed. The second part features case studies on the politics and diplomacy of six countries. Despite the Cold War, the balance of the strategic environment enabled actors that were not part of one or the other alliance system to play a role in the interlocking global politics that created the nuclear regime that defines international relations until today.

Pandemics in Singapore, 1819–2022
Lessons for the Age of COVID-19
Kah Seng Loh, Li Yang Hsu
Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Asia
Singapore has faced many pandemics over the centuries, from plague, smallpox and cholera to influenza and novel coronaviruses. By examining how different governments responded, this book considers what we can learn from their experiences. Public health strategies in the city-state were often affected by issues of ethnicity and class, as well as failure to take heed of key learnings from previous outbreaks. Pandemics are a recurrent and normal feature of the human experience.

Putinitism – Post-Soviet Russian Regime Ideology

Mikhail Suslov

Series: BASEES/Routledge Series on Russian and East European Studies

What is Putin’s ideology? Is a key question for the contemporary world. This book analyses this ideology, which it terms “Putinitism”. It examines a range of factors which feed into the ideology – conservative thought in Russia from the nineteenth century onwards, Russian and Soviet history and their memorialisation, Russian Orthodox religion and its political connections, a focus on traditional values, and Russia’s sense of itself as a unique civilisation, different from the West and due a special, respected place in the world.

Re-envisioning Psychology
Debating Paradigmatic Foundations

Parul Bansal

This book studies the ideological nature of mainstream scientific psychology. It raises critical questions on dominant forms of psychological theorization and praxis based on their validity, social relevance and power privileges. The book critically interrogates scientific images of the mind, individual, gender, society and culture that mainstream psychology throws up.

Refugee Voices

Performativity and the Struggle for Recognition

Rob Sharp

This book explores how participatory creative production can allow refugees to be recognized in emotional, legal, and social ways. It also explains how decisions around participation in these forms of creative production can equally exclude refugee voices from the public sphere, inhibit recognition, and in fact lead to refugee misrecognition. Building on the concept of ‘performative refugeeness’, it considers how refugee voices are ambivalently enacted in alternative forms of media. It will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of migration and refugee studies, media and culture studies, performance studies and communication studies.

Russia and Japan in the Sea of Okhotsk

A Global History of Maritime Travel and Cultural Encounters, 1600-1900

Scott C.M. Bailey

Series: Routledge Studies in the Maritime History of Asia

This book provides analyses of historical sources which describe cross-cultural encounters and changes in the Sea of Okhotsk area. This includes analyses of explorers and travellers who traversed the region for commerce, exploration, diplomacy, and possible colonization. Historical sources are explored from the perspective of different cultural groups and these cross-cultural encounters in the region led to collaboration, syncretism, and resistance. The last chapter discusses how some international travellers and foreign residents of Hokkaidō described the area at the end of the nineteenth century, which confirm that Hokkaidō had become a fully colonized space.

Russian Pogroms and Jewish Revolution, 1905

Class, Ethnicity, Autocracy in the First Russian Revolution

Gerald D. Surh

Series: Routledge Studies in the History of Russia and Eastern Europe

This book, based on extensive original research, examines the widespread and violent pogroms against Jews which took place in the Russian Empire in 1905. It briefly surveys the earlier history of Jews in the Russian Empire and the discriminatory policies against them. The work outlines the extent of the killings and lootings in 1905, explores the role of the authorities who were often neutral or complicit in the violence, and highlights Jewish self-defense measures.

Social Psychology
Theories and Applications
Sibnath Deb, Anjali Gireesan, Pooja Prabhavalkar, Shayana Deb
This book examines the concept of social psychology in today’s context. It analyses the theoretical concepts of social psychology and their application to other fields. It further explores the discipline in a cultural, historical, and philosophical context with special emphasis on religion. It advocates for a symbiotic relationship between the concepts of social psychology and their implementation in a society transitioning from being value-oriented to commerce-oriented. The volume also suggests ways in which social psychology can assist in dealing with issues plaguing today’s world.

Staging Revolutions and the Many Faces of Modernism
Performing Politics in Irish and Egyptian Theatre

Amina ElHalawani
Series: Transdisciplinary Souths
The book explores how theatre, with its performative capacity, has the power to engage with and affect politics of its day. It sets the stage for the reader to discover the revolutionary traditions of Egyptian and Irish theatre, very distinct in their histories and cultures, and understand their enduring relevance in today’s world. The volume takes Ireland as a case study of the interplay between cultural nationalism and politically engaged theatre and compares it to the role of theatre in Egypt during its Golden era in the 1960s. It will interest scholars and researchers of literary studies, identity politics, cultural studies, theatre and performance studies, and political studies.

Tagore and the Margins of the Nation under Colonialism

Amartya Mukhopadhyay

This book focuses on India’s anti-colonial politics which Rabindranath Tagore (1861–1941) brought into the mainstream of nationalist thinking. It explores the entire corpus of Tagore’s writings in the genres of poetry, fiction, and essays, to glean both used and hitherto unused/un-translated writings that illuminate Tagore’s gender consciousness and (proto)feminist thought and empathy, presenting it in a wholly new light.

Tagore’s Solutions for Colonial Degeneration

Indic Societalism, Nation, Identities, and Communities

Amartya Mukhopadhyay

This book focuses on Rabindranath Tagore as a social and political thinker. Revolving around Tagore’s ideas on the seeds of civil society, nation, identities, and communities in the Indic tradition, the author deconstructs Tagore’s concepts against the appropriate resurgent and triumphantist Western concepts in the updated Western social thought and theories. The book examines Tagore’s understanding of the nature of the civil social sphere in India and analyses the relevance of his civil social concepts against the backdrop of colonialism in India.

The Climate–Energy–Land Nexus in Indonesia

Biofuel, REDD+ and biochar

Edited by Akihisa Mori, Alin Halimatussadiah
Series: Routledge Contemporary Southeast Asia Series

This book extends the framework of the climate-energy-land nexus to elucidate political, economic, social, and institutional factors and causal mechanisms that stringent climate targets bring about, rather than mitigate a disproportional heavy burden on the forest sector in Indonesia. As an analysis of the success, or otherwise, of stringent climate targets, policies, and technological and non-technological measures on the reduction of greenhouse gases, this book will be of great interest to students and scholars in the fields of environment & sustainability, Asian studies, energy, agriculture & environmental sciences.

The Color of Precision Medicine

Shirley Sun, Zoe Ong
Series: Routledge Studies in Science, Technology and Society

Sun and Ong propose the concept of racialization of precision medicine, defined as the social processes by which racial/ethnic categories are incorporated (or not) into the development, interpretation and implementation of precision medicine research and practice. Drawing on interview data with physicians and scientists in the field of cancer care, this book elucidate different ways in which racialization occurs, and reveal that there exists an inherent contradiction in the usage of race/ethnicity as genomic medicine moves from bench to bedside. An important resource for clinicians, researchers and public health policy makers on how to deracialize precision medicine.

The Cold War and its Legacy in Indonesia

Literary Representation of the Red Scare

Silvia Mayasari-Hoffert
Series: The Cold War in Asia

With close textual analysis of Indonesian literary texts and their political context, this book investigates how the New Order regime under Suharto was able to build a meta narrative of liberation while purging the Left in Indonesia. Even after the regime’s end in 1998, many Indonesians still have an ingrained fear of the prospect of Communism, with the result being that literary representation of the Left is still seen as problematic. Through reviewing Indonesia’s institution of literature, the use and abuse of universal humanism under the New Order regime is examined, and the ways in which power intersects with literature is explored.

The Discourse of Disability

Indian Perspectives

Vivek Singh

This book explores the concept of disability through a social, political, cultural, religious, and economics lens. It challenges the categorization of ‘physically-disabled’ produced by way of legal, medical, political, cultural, and literary narratives that comprise an exclusionary discourse. The volume discusses themes like disability and identity politics; disability and the western epistemology; disability in India; disability and the Indian English fiction and Hindi cinema to question the embodied hegemony of ‘norms’ and their effects in the construction and history of societies.

The Foundations of the Composite Culture in India

Malik Mohamed

In The Foundations of the Composite Culture in India, the focus of the author is the process of establishment of Hindu-Muslim unity as a result of historical, social and cultural factors over a period of ten centuries. To explore the foundations on which the complex culture of India rests, the author examines the contribution of Sufism which inherently connotes syncretism and tolerance, as well as the simultaneous rise of the Bhakti movement in medieval India. The Enclaves of the India-Bangladesh Border

History, Statelessness and Bilateral Relations

Rup Kumar Barman

This book examines the nature of statelessness in the India-Bangladesh enclaves. It traces the historical background and the causative factors for the origin and evolution of these enclaves in a specific geographical region of pre-colonial North Bengal. The author studies the ways in which colonial intervention in this region created administrative complications in the enclaves and critically examines the postcolonial changes in Indo-Bangladesh bilateral relations, especially in resolving boundary disputes.

The Geopolitics of China’s Belt and Road Initiative
Theodor Tudoroiu
Series: Routledge Contemporary China Series
This book argues that China’s Belt and Road Initiative should be seen as a geopolitical project with China aiming to bring about a new Chinese-led international order. It contends that China’s approach has two personas – an aggressive one, focusing on a nineteenth century-style territorial empire, which is applied to Taiwan and the adjacent seas; and a new-style persona, based on relationship building with countries in the Global South, relying on large scale infrastructure projects to help secure the elites in power, a process often leading to weaker governance structures.

The Japan Lectures
A Transnational Critical Encounter
Michel Foucault
The Japan Lectures contribute to the new scholarship in Asian and in translation studies which have long since moved away from earlier ‘Area Studies’; at the same time, they participate in the new scholarship about Foucault’s own work and itinerary, following the publication of an extraordinary wealth of materials left unfinished or unpublished by his untimely death. In these ways, The Japan Lectures help us to better see the implications of Foucault’s work for philosophy in the twenty-first century.

The Jamaat Question in Bangladesh
Islam, Politics and Society in a Post-Democratic Nation
Edited by Syed Serajul Islam, Md Saidul Islam
Series: Politics in Asia
With multidisciplinary insights and perspectives, the contributors to this volume provide an objective socio-historical analysis of Islam, politics and society in Bangladesh. Separating fact from fiction, they attempt to uncover the truth about Jamaat, the largest Islam-based political party in the country. Suppressed and marginalized by the BAL regime, Jamaat remains active in the social landscape of Bangladesh. What makes Jamaat so resilient against all odds? Can it peacefully coexist with rival political parties in a polarised nation such as Bangladesh? This book seeks to answer these crucial questions.

The Kantian Subject
New Interpretative Essays
Edited by Fernando M. F. Silva, Luigi Caranti
This book presents a critical reconsideration of the Kantian cognitive and practical subject. Special attention is devoted to highlight the complex relation between subjectivity as it is presented in the three critiques and the way in which it is construed in other writings, in particular the Anthropology. While for Kant our cognitive apparatus and the structure of our will are common to all humans, the anthropological subject reveals degrees of variation, depending on a myriad of external circumstances that pose a challenge to the unity of Kant’s account and await theoretical solutions.

The Limits of Sexuality Education
Love, Sex, and Adolescent Masculinities in Urban India

Ketaki Chowkhani

This book explores different strands of thinking about sexuality education in contemporary urban India. It interrogates the limits of sexuality education as we know it today by rethinking adolescent masculinities and the sexual education offered in schools in India. Based on detailed research and narratives from teachers, young men and women, the book explores adolescent male romance and its affective registers; adolescent male sexual knowledge; and the regulation of romance in school spaces.

The Long Conquest
Territorialisation, Rebellion and the ‘Tribe’ in Eastern India, circa 1760 to 1900

Sanghamitra Misra

This book is an inquiry into the elision of the figure of the sovereign, cotton-producing Garo in the colonial archive and its savage transformation into imperialism’s quintessential ‘primitive’ in the period between 1760 CE and 1900 CE. It explores the precolonial political economy of hill cotton produced by the Garos, its unhinging from the exercise of Garo sovereignty and its eventual commodification twined with the deterritorialization of the community as it made way for elephant mehals and reserved forests.

Three Faces of Populism in Asia
Populism as a Multifaceted Political Practice

Edited by Shiru Wang
Series: Politics in Asia

Drawing on evidence from eight Asian cases across three subregions, this volume highlights the distinctive features of Asian populism in comparison with Western experiences. In contrast to the latter, populist practices in Asia tend to exhibit an ambiguous nature, often characterized by ad hoc and mixed ideological add-ons. Empirical evidence shows that populist attitudes towards the role of politicians, the popular will and the relationship between the elite and the people can serve as an explanatory variable for political outcomes. A valuable resource for scholars of Asian politics and those looking at the phenomenon of populism through a comparative lens.

Un-Mapping the Global South

Edited by Gero Bauer, Nicole Hirschfelder, Fernando Resende

Series: Transdisciplinary Souths

This book offers new approaches and insights into the ongoing and topical discussions on the concepts and definitions of the global south. Instead of adding to the debates about how to properly define the ‘global south’ as such, it aims at emphasising concrete experiences and accounts of (post-)colonial dislocation and disidentification as both a starting point and linchpin for the subsequent exploration. A bold initiation of future conversations on issues that both directly and indirectly affect ideas about the global south, the volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of critical theory, literary and cultural studies, and global south studies.

Series: Routledge Studies in the History of Iran and Turkey

This book provides a novel approach to the history of medieval Anatolia by analysing political, religious and cultural developments in the region of Kastamonu during the reign of the Chobanid dynasty (c. 1211-1309). Attentive to religious diversity, state formation and processes of transculturation in medieval Anatolia, the book is key reading for scholars of Middle Eastern history and Islamic studies.

Turkey's Relations With Israel

The First Sixty Two Years, 1948–2010

Ekavi Athanassopoulou
Series: Routledge Studies in Middle Eastern Politics

This book offers the first comprehensive history and analysis of Turkey’s relations with Israel since 1948, when the state of Israel was established, up until 2010 and places them within the wider framework of Turkey’s foreign policy. It is essential reading for students and scholars interested in understanding Turkey’s foreign policy in general and towards the Middle East in particular.

The Poetry and Essays of Uri Zvi Grinberg

Politics and Zionism

Tamar Wolf-Monzon
Series: Routledge Jewish Studies Series

This book focuses on the complex network of relationships between the poet, Uri Zvi Grinberg, and the Labor Movement in Mandate Palestine from 1923-1937. The book will interest researchers in a range of fields, including Hebrew poetry and reception theory, as well as anyone interested in Israeli studies and the history of the Labor Movement in Palestine.
